We think Billy Blue is the best
English School in Australia.
But don't take our word for it.

English is the most used language on Earth.
And the most useful for your future.

Learning English at Billy Blue in Sydney, Australia is both fun and inspiring

As well as the right school, you can see from the photo that we also offer the right location. Billy Blue English School is only 10 minutes from the CBD and is in one of Sydney's most upmarket locations. Sydney has the right climate and lifestyle for you to enjoy the experience.

Billy Blue is not the biggest English School in Australia. And we aim to keep it that way

This means everybody who studies here gets a lot of attention. We have a great success rate with our students.

Who goes to Billy Blue?

Our students come from European, South American and Asian countries.

The modern way to learn English

We have up-to-date equipment to help you learn, including dedicated educational software and Internet. The Interactive Computers and Listening Centre are also available outside class hours.

Billy Blue is a major name in education in Sydney

As well as the Billy Blue English School, we have the Billy Blue School of Graphic Arts, the William Blue International Hotel Management School and the Billy Blue Business School. And we have a bridging program to help our English language students transfer to any of our schools.

Billy Blue is more than a major name in education in Sydney

Billy Blue Creative is one of Australia's leading visual communication consultancies. It is expert in all aspects of design, including brand creation and implementation, corporate and marketing communications, multimedia and web-based projects, signage and exhibition graphics, advertising and publishing.

As well as your daily classes, you are given individual attention where necessary and special material is available to help you study at the school in your own time.

On the first day at school, each student is assessed on four English language skills: speaking, listening, reading and writing. This means you begin your study program where it will suit you best. In this way, you won't be held back by students who are not as advanced as you. And vice versa.

Before you sit an exam, we make sure you are prepared for it. We help our students develop the study skills they need to succeed in the IELTS and TOEFL tests (which assess your English language ability for further study). There is also a separate program run twice a year to help students prepare for the Cambridge exams.

As well as your daily classes, you are given individual attention where necessary and special material is available to help you study at the school in your own time.

In short, we do everything to help you pass.

We also teach you to teach yourself

As well as our normal 21 hours of classes, students can follow individual study programs in pronunciation, listening, reading, writing, grammar and test preparation. Teaching staff supervise these programs, to help out when it's needed.

Government regulations

We have to tell you here that Australian Government regulations require you attend all classes and maintain an attendance rate in excess of 80%. Your teacher will check the roll every teaching session and the Administration Manager will enter attendance on to the computer records weekly. If your attendance falls below 90%, students on student visas will be sent a warning letter. After three warning letters, you will be reported to the Sub Education Board, who will report you to DIMIA via PRISMS.

A young woman with long blonde hair is smiling broadly at the camera. She is wearing a light blue short-sleeved t-shirt and dark jeans. She is holding two books; the one in her left hand is a large, thick book with 'ENGLISH DICTIONARY' printed on its spine. The background is a light blue wall decorated with several large, solid blue circles of varying sizes. The text 'Before we teach you English, we learn about you.' is overlaid in the center of the image in a yellow, serif font.

Before we teach you English,
we learn about you.

A photograph of four young adults sitting on wide stone steps in front of a row of large, fluted classical columns. In the foreground, a blonde woman in a red shirt and dark jeans sits on the left, smiling at the camera. Next to her, a woman with dark hair in a purple shirt sits, looking towards the camera. Behind them, two men in blue shirts are partially visible, leaning against the columns. The scene is brightly lit, suggesting a sunny day. The text 'After you learn English, you can keep on learning.' is overlaid in yellow at the bottom left.

After you learn English,
you can keep on learning.

Other Pathways

Academic Counselling

The school has an Academic Counsellor, available to all students, who can help you choose your further study institution, be it High School, College, TAFE, Foundation Program or University, to gain a degree.

Our Academic Counsellor can also help you make applications and arrange appointments or help you with your language program.

Further Study

On completion of your English program, as well as the options we have outlined above, you can also choose to transfer directly to one of our own highly regarded schools.

Billy Blue School of Graphic Arts

This school is unique because it is linked to a highly successful, multi-award winning commercial design studio, Billy Blue Creative. Students are trained for exciting careers in design, publishing, packaging, graphic design, advertising and multimedia. Certificate to degree programs are available, ranging in length from one to three years.

William Blue International

Hotel Management School

At this school students start working in the industry from day one. The two year Australian Advanced Diploma includes six months of paid industry placement in hotels. The school also offers the American International Diploma (EI), which qualifies you for a job in over 160 countries. Name any great hotel in the world and chances are a William Blue student is working there right now. Certificate to degree programs are available, ranging in length from one to three years.

Direct Entry to Academic Studies

Billy Blue has negotiated Direct Entry arrangements with a number of Australian training institutions. With Direct Entry, students do not have to experience the pressure of their education goals being dependent on one test.

New Developments

Since September 2003, all our schools have relocated to the same building in Miller Street, North Sydney. This means all the schools share better facilities and students are able to meet and mingle with other students from Australia and around the world.

When you come to study at Billy Blue, you could stay in a Palace

Billy Blue Palace is the residence for all our schools and offers a clean, comfortable and safe home away from home. It is set in a large garden, only 15 minutes from the heart of Sydney and just 10 minutes from the English School.

Facilities include a study room with internet and e-mail access, a swimming pool, tennis courts, lounge and games rooms. Our dining room serves two meals a day. Plus all the facilities you need to look after yourself. It may not be a real palace, but you'll live here very well. (Billy Blue Palace accommodation will not be available after 30 June 2004).

Or you may prefer to stay at home

We also can offer our students places in real family homes, in easy reach of the school. Our students find they soon become part of the family. Commuting time to and from the school is usually 15-20 minutes.

Airport Pick-up

We can pick you up from Sydney International Airport when you arrive and take you to your accommodation.

Billy Blue is as much a social club as a school

As well as the good times you'll have with the friends you'll make at the Billy Blue Palace or within the local community, you'll find Billy Blue organises a lot of other activities for you. We have excursions as a vital part of your learning program, including visits to famous tourist spots like the Koala Park, Opera House and Manly and Bondi beaches.

Weekend excursions can include skiing, boating and visits to farms, the Blue Mountains and the Hunter Valley vineyards. There are all sorts of sporting activities: soccer, basketball, volleyball.

Sydney offers lots of night life too: clubs, harbour cruises and karaoke nights, to name a few.

We can offer our students places in real family homes, in easy reach of the school.

Teaching Style

We know students learn better by doing rather than listening. So we encourage speaking and interacting with each other, rather than sitting passively listening to a teacher.

Classrooms are dynamic

We know students learn better by doing rather than listening. So we encourage speaking and interacting with each other, rather than sitting passively listening to a teacher.

Classes are fun

Puzzling over a grammar point or playing a game may seem like fun but you learn faster when you're enjoying yourself.

Learn from each other

You won't learn everything from the teacher. Most of the people you'll work with and talk to in your future life will be speaking English as a second, not first language. So your most valuable teacher may be the student next to you.

Take a risk

We encourage you to go outside your comfort zone when learning. As everyone else is doing the same, no one is going to make fun of you.

The teachers are not just Australian

Billy Blue students hear all the main accents: British, American, Irish, New Zealand and Australian.

Sydney is our classroom

We don't believe in just sitting in a classroom. Teachers take students on class excursions/ field trips to use English in a very real context.

Everyone is unique

No course book suits every student or class so individually designed Billy Blue teaching materials are used.

Testing and progress reports

- Billy Blue English School tracks students' progress carefully to ensure that they achieve the level they want in the shortest possible time.
- Every four weeks there's a progress test – to show teachers and students what's been learnt and what still needs attention.
- Every student is individually counselled after the results are assessed, to explore students' further needs and aspirations.
- Progress reports are sent to parents and agents so all concerned parties are kept updated.
- Tests are part (but not all) of the assessment process for proceeding to a higher level language class.

The numbers are limited

There is an average maximum of 15 students, though some classes are as small as six. At Billy Blue we actively manage the nationality mix to ensure a lively international community.

Study Retreat

As part of our Cambridge Examination Preparation courses, a three Day Study Retreat is held at a spectacular, secluded beach outside of Sydney. For three days, you, your classmates and teacher will swap your classroom for a beach-front house with fantastic views and a unique Australian experience. Along with studies, each group passes the time swimming, taking walks and getting to know each other. Cooking is done the Australian way, on a barbecue. Academic benefits included team building and concentrated focus on examination practice.

ANNE HOLMES, HEAD OF SCHOOL

BA (LANGUAGES) UNIVERSITY OF NEWCASTLE
DIPLOMA OF EDUCATION, UNIVERSITY OF NEWCASTLE.

Anne started teaching in Australia before moving to the UK to further her career. Anne went on to found the prestigious Swan School of English in Stratford on Avon. In recognition of the high standards set by Swan, Anne was appointed to the board of the British Council, the organisation responsible for maintaining quality standards in English Language teaching. As a result of extensive experience in this area, she travelled to China in 1997 as a consultant on Quality Control in Language Teaching to the Education Commissions of Beijing and Shanghai.

Naturally, when Anne decided to return to Australia, not just any old school would do. So she researched English schools in Sydney for a period of 18 months. We are proud to say that Billy Blue was the school Anne chose to apply for a position. The position we offered her was Head of School. No one could be better qualified for the role.

Anne researched English Schools in Australia for 18 months before deciding to come to Billy Blue.

What will I wear?

Sydney weather is mostly sunny and warm, but like the weather anywhere, it can, and does, change. In the summer it can be very hot (sometimes more than 30°C), so you will need to bring light, casual clothes. It can also rain a lot so don't forget your umbrella. Of course, you'll need beachwear to make the most of Sydney's beautiful beaches.

During the winter months (June, July, August) it can get quite cold so it is important to bring a coat and warm clothes. But, keep in mind that it can also be sunny in winter.

This chart of average maximum and minimum temperatures may help you (°C).
